Email

From: Mike

To: Best Friend

Subject: My favourite restaurant

Hello my friend!

Long time no see! How is everything? I've just come back from "Happy Panda", my favourite restaurant, where I had dinner with my family. I'm writing this email to tell you all about it.

It's a Chinese restaurant and my family and I really love going there to eat. The food is delicious and the staff is very friendly. What about you? Which is your favourite restaurant? What kind of restaurant is it? Who do you go with? How often do you go there? What about the food? Is it a cheap or an expensive restaurant?

Write back soon and tell me all about it!

Love and kisses,

John

The Cabin in the Forest

One fine day, not long ago, an old man was walking in the forest. Just as it was getting dark, he found himself in an unfamiliar part of the forest. He walked for hours but he couldn't find his way home. Eventually, he arrived at a small old cabin. He felt very tired, so he decided to stay there for the night.

When he got closer to the cabin, he saw that the door was open. Putting his head inside, he could see that the little cabin was completely empty, but there was a bed that looked comfortable, and a fire burning in the fireplace. The old man decided to sleep there for the night.

While he was lying on the bed, half-asleep, he looked around and was surprised to see that the walls were covered with paintings. They seemed to be family portraits, all framed and painted in incredible detail. They seemed very realistic and were all extremely ugly. They made him feel very uncomfortable - it seemed that they were staring straight at him. So, he turned on his side so that he faced the wall, pulled the blanket over his head, and went to sleep.

When the old man woke up in the morning, the forest birds were singing and the morning light was coming in through the windows. Then, as he was looking at the cabin in the bright light, he discovered something strange: there were no family portraits on the walls of the cabin... only windows.

Scotland is a country that is part of the United Kingdom. It is best known for its beautiful and historic castles. There are more than 790 islands in the country.

Fast Facts:

Location: north-western part of Europe

Population: 5, 454 million

Currency: pound sterling (£, GBP)

Language Spoken: English, Gaelic, Scots,

Flag Colours: white and blue

There is nowhere like Scotland. It rains a lot but most visitors love the country. They love the beautiful empty hills of the north. They love the sea and the islands. They love the big cities of Edinburgh and Glasgow. They love the people, who are warm, friendly and funny.

For many years Scotland was a poor country, but today it is getting richer. People in many countries drink Scotch whisky and this brings money to Scotland. There is oil and gas in the sea between Scotland and Norway.

Between 1066 and 1328, there were many battles between England and Scotland. In 1314, the Scottish king, Robert the Bruce, beat the English at the Battle of Bannockburn. 10,000 Englishmen died and, soon after, Scotland was free. In 1542, a girl called Mary became the Queen of Scots.

Edinburgh is the capital city of Scotland. It is an old city with many interesting buildings. The first thing you see when you leave Waverley Station is Edinburgh Castle. Visitors must go down the Royal Mile to Holyroodhouse. It is three hundred years old. There is also the national Gallery of Scotland, with pictures from Scotland and from other countries. Glasgow is the biggest city in Scotland. It used to be a city of shipbuilding.

One of the most popular sports in Scotland is Golf. Golf started in Scotland in the 15th century. It is not very expensive and there are many beautiful golf courses: more than four hundred!
