LINOPETRA GYMNASIUM
When Poetry Meets Music

As part of Literature Month, our students participated in a unique CLIL experience that combined poetry and music in a truly inspiring way. Students recited selected poems to their fellow classmates while student musicians provided a live musical background, creating a captivating atmosphere that brought the poems to life.

The lesson was a rich and memorable experience for both students and teachers. Students thoroughly enjoyed the opportunity to experience poetry in a different and creative way. The activity also highlighted the importance of the arts, encouraging students to appreciate the beauty of both literature and music while fostering creativity, expression, and collaboration.
